

The Professional Association for Cactus Development
gratefully acknowledges support of these organizations and individuals.

Birgit Arnholdt-Schmitt

Kevin Coniff

D'Arrigo Bros.

Peter Felker

Friedas

James Moss

San Antonio Botanical Gardens

San Antonio Botanical Society

Carmen Saenz

James Simpson, M.D.

Texas A&M University-Kingsville

Wray Charitable Trust

Helmuth Zimmerman

Additional financial support to offset costs of printing and web publishing will be appreciated.

PACD is not a charitable organization
under the U.S. internal revenue code.

Journal of the Professional Association for Cactus Development Editorial Board

Birgit Arnholdt-Schmitt, Professora, Departamento de Bioquímica e Biologia Molecular, Universidade Federal do Ceará, Fortaleza, Ceará, Brazil. Biotechnological aspects.

Ron Bunch, D'Arrigo Bros, Salinas, California. PhD, University of Wisconsin, Plant Breeding. Agronomy and breeding aspects.

Victor de Cortazar, Departamento de Ingeniería y Suelos, Facultad de Ciencias Agronómicas, Universidad de Chile, Santiago, Chile. Agronomy and Ecophysiological Aspects

Peter Felker, Asesor, Secretaria de Produccion y Medio Ambiente, Santiago del Estero, Argentina. PhD, Michigan State University, Plant Physiology. General Papers

Juan Carlos Guevara, Instituto Argentino de Investigaciones de las Zonas Aridas (IADIZA), Mendoza, Argentina. Economic Aspects.

Paolo Inglese, PhD. Horticultural aspects.

Roberto Kiesling, Instituto Darwinion, Buenos Aires, Argentina. PhD, University de Plata, Taxonomy. Taxonomic aspects.

Yosef Mizrahi, Department of Life Sciences, Institute for Applied Research, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev, Israel.

Park Nobel, Professor, University of California-Los Angeles, Los Angeles, California. PhD, University of California-Berkeley, Plant physiology. Ecophysiological aspects.

Andrew Paterson, Professor and Director, Plant Mapping Laboratory, University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia. PhD, Cornell University. Genetic aspects.

Jesus Fuentes Rodriguez, Dean of the Graduate School, Universidad Autonoma Agraria Antonio Narro, Saltillo, Mexico. PhD, Colorado State University, Animal Science. Forage/livestock aspects.

Carmen Saenz, Professor, University of Chile, Santiago, Chile. Doctorate, University of Madrid, Spain, Food Technology. Food chemistry and technology aspects.

Helmuth Zimmerman. Entomological aspects.

James Moss, Technical writer/editor. Dallas, Texas. MS, The University of Texas at Dallas, Environmental Sciences. Editing and production.